

PRINCIPALS AND SCENES IN I. W. W. "ROUND UP" IN ARIZONA

to for aid. The map shows the different points where trouble is reported in the strike riven State, and Nogales and Columbus, where the cargoes of deported men were dumped. The men were driven from the city by deputy sheriffs and nearly two thousand armed men, members of an organization known as the "Citizens' Protective League." Two men were killed during the work of deportation.

LESSON FOR JULY 29th

Lesson Title: "God's Gracious Invitation."

Lesson Text: Isaiah 55. Memorize verses 1, 2.

Golden Text: "Seek ye Jehovah while he may be found; call ye upon him while he is near." Isaiah 55:6.

I. "WHILE HE MAY BE FOUND"

Is there ever a time when God cannot be found? When is he specially needed? What things must men "forsake" in order to find God? Why is the process unreal to some, too costly to others, and impossible to a few?

Dr. Jewett says: "In my university days at Edinburgh there was a young Methodist student named Macfarlane. He was one of our finest athletes, and everybody liked him. One day he was stricken with typhoid which proved fatal. Macfarlane in his days of boisterous health had neglected his Lord, and when one of his friends, visiting him in his sickness, led his thoughts to the Savior, he turned and said, 'But wouldn't it be a shabby thing to turn to Christ now?' 'Yes,' replied his friend, 'it will be a shabby thing, but it will be shabbier not to turn to him at all.' And I believe that poor Macfarlane turned his shame-filled soul to the Lord.

"But it is shabby to offer our Lord the mere dregs of life's cup. It is shabby to offer him the mere hull of the best when the storms of passion have carried its serviceableness away. Let me offer him my best, my finest equipment, my youth! Let me offer him the best, and give him the helm when I am just setting sail and life abounds in golden promises. 'Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth!'"

II. FUNDAMENTAL THIRSTS

God's gracious invitation: "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters," is an inspiration to us all. There are some things which a man has a right to crave. These we call fundamental thirsts. We believe that the existence of thirst in the soul is an indication that God intended it was to be satisfied in a normal and reasonable way. Of course men may pervert their fundamental thirsts. The result is always disastrous.

Sooner or later a man has a real thirst for God. Before that time he may have been spending his money for that which is not bread, to use the familiar scripture illustration. His business and his pleasures may have absorbed his time and given him some measure of satisfaction. But one day there comes a time when his soul cries out for God. Then it is he realizes His existence and calls for His help. It is good to know that in that day God never forgets or fails a man because He always answers the cry of His children.

III. GOD'S WAYS AND MAN'S WAYS

Who were the truly fortunate people? The Youth's Companion tells this story and gives the answer. "Two men were talking about old

PAYS $100 REWARD FOR CAT.

Recovers Her Wandering Pussy—Butcher's Boy Happy

Barryton, Mich.—When a box car was opened recently at the Pere Marquette depot at Barryton a big yellow cat jumped out. This particular cat carries a long pedigree, and has been exhibited at some of the big cat shows this fact was not known to the people of Barryton. The cat was therefore supposed to be just an ordinary cat, and while the feline wished to be friendly and sociable it found great difficulty in finding a home until it wandered into the meat market of Al Mackerzie.

Some days later Mackerzie's son, Harold read a want ad in a Detroit paper offering $100 reward for a cat answering the description of their feline guest. The boy answered the ad and a member of the wealthy family arrived here and departed with her pet, but just one hundred "bucks" poorer in purse.

Grapes will grow almost anywhere and are sure to bear. Grapes can be trained on trellises close to fences or to outbuildings. Spring is the best time to plant, using either one or two-year old vines. Frequent cultivation during summer will improve the fruit.

State News Brevities

COLUMBUS, July 18—Three more buildings soon will be erected at Ohio State university to cost in all $430,000. Plans for the new structures will probably be completed the first of August.

The largest building will be the power house which will cost $200,000. The present power house is inadequate, and because of this, the new one will be pushed to completion as fast as possible.

A women's building will be constructed at a cost of $150,000 and an addition will be built to the chemistry hall, at a cost of $80,000.

AKRON.—Akron, in the midst of a crime wave, is blaming it on large numbers of negroes who have come here from the south in the past year. Admitting the prevalence of crime, Police Captain Guillett today declared over half the jail prisoners are negroes who have just come north, and who have proved lazy and shiftless.

FREMONT, O.—Edward Martin, Riley township farmer, was made unconscious for more than two hours when he was struck by lightning that descended from a lightning rod on a barn. Martin had gone into the barn to seek shelter from a storm.

PORT CLINTON, O.—Congressman L. R. Sherwood of Toledo visited Camp Perry recently, inspecting the grounds and also spent some time in this city sizing up the political status of the county.

NATOLEON—More than 100 farmers in autos rushed to Gettlen, near here with milk cans of water and saved the Toledo Grain & Milling Co. elevator, when a can of gasoline exploded and ignited the building.

They were summoned by Mary Ballard, telephone operator, who realized the village was without fire protection.

Loan Shows Our Financial Strength

Two billion dollars is a tremendous sum of money. Yet the American people have loaned their Government that much and have barely touched their resources. The money was raised so easily it only seemed to show the tremendous financial strength of the country.

Not only is this first Liberty Loan Bond issue of two billion dollars much larger than the initial loans of any of the other nations engaged in the war but it was raised in much less time with much less effort and was subscribed to by a vastly greater number of individuals; this too when danger was far from us and the nation in a calm frame of mind.

The coming second issue of Liberty Loan Bonds, with the great mass of the people of the country much better educated as to Government bond issues and Government finances in general, it is reasonable to suppose, will be disposed of with even greater success than the initial issue.

The over subscription to the initial issue of over a billion dollars argues well for the success of the next loan. There are several million more investors in Government bonds in America than there were a month ago. Then there were some three hundred thousand holders of United States bonds; now there are over four million. And the thrill of the thought of soldiers in France will rally the people to the nation's call.
